As of April 23, 2021

Market related news for the week ending April 23, 2021

- Monday tobacco stocks like Altria and Philip Morris sold off after reports of new regulatory efforts being considered that would require tobacco companies to lower the nicotine levels of all cigarettes sold in the U.S., ban menthol cigarettes, or both.
- Tuesday after the close Netflix released earnings sending the stock nearly 9% lower in after-hours trading. The streaming company fell short of its own subscriber forecasts, adding 3.98 million paid net subscribers, well short of its guidance for 6 million.
- Electric vehicle stocks and solar companies were up Wednesday on the back of a pledge by President Biden to cut greenhouse gas emissions by at least half by 2030, nearly double what was proposed by former President Obama under the 2015 Paris climate agreement.
- Thursday Wall Street's main indexes fell after a report that President Joe Biden plans to almost double capital gains tax on $1 million+ earners. Bitcoin also fell, dropping through the $50,000 level.
- Homebuilding stocks rallied Friday after new home sales data for March showed a sharp rebound to the highest level since 2006.
- The week ended with about 25% of S&P 500 companies having reported earnings. 85% beat analyst's EPS estimates with energy and communications the big winners. The S&P 500's aggregate EPS is on track to rise 30% year-over-year on sales growth of 6.6%.

Other Definitions

Duration: incorporates a bond's yield, coupon, final maturity and call features into one number, expressed in years, that indicates how price-sensitive a bond or portfolio is to changes in interest rates. Effective duration can also be defined as the approximate percentage change in a security's price that will result from a 1% (100-basis-point) change in its yield.

Yield to Worst: lowest potential yield that can be received on a bond without the issuer defaulting. This yield measure takes in to account any bond calls or sinking funds.

OAS: acronym for "option adjusted spread" which is the spread that has to be added to the Treasury yield curve in a pricing model (including embedded options) to discount a security to match its market price.
